

Lecturer in Economics

The Department of Accounting, Economics & Finance at Christopher Newport University invites applications for a Lecturer position, effective August 2010. This position is for a one-year appointment but may be renewed or converted to tenure track. The position requires a doctoral degree in economics or a related field, excellent teaching skills, a promising research program, and the ability to contribute to the intellectual life of CNU. We are seeking a faculty member who will engage students inside and outside the classroom. Individuals who are ABD at the final stage of completion may, at the discretion of the University, be considered for appointment at the rank of instructor.

While all specialties will be considered, preference will be given to candidates with fields in environmental or health economics. Teaching responsibilities may include: principles of economics, an upper-level elective in the candidate's field, intermediate microeconomics, and contributing to the University's liberal learning curriculum. The teaching load is 4-4 for the initial appointment, and 3-4 for tenure track positions.

The Luter School's AACSB-accredited business curriculum attracts some of the university's best students, and requires a minimum GPA of 3.0. It takes a lead role in bridging CNU's liberal learning core with high-quality business coursework that is in turn supplemented by international experiences, internships, and volunteer work. Our Federal Reserve Challenge team recently finished among the top four colleges and universities nationwide. For more information, visit our website at <http://www.cnu.edu/busn/index.html>

Located between historic Colonial Williamsburg and the ocean resort of Virginia Beach, CNU is committed to outstanding teaching, undergraduate education, and the liberal studies core; the University will soon seek to shelter a Phi Beta Kappa chapter. The Fall 2009 freshman class of approximately 1,200 students was selected from over 8,500 applicants and has an average SAT of 1199. Capital improvements (nearly $500 million) on the beautiful, 260-acre campus integrate the University's liberal arts vision, nurturing mind, body, and spirit. These include the state-of-the-art Tribble Library, home to the most comprehensive maritime research collections in the world; the Freeman Center athletic complex; and the I.M. Pei-designed Ferguson Center for the Arts, which brings to Virginia the finest performing artists in the world. Construction of three brand-new academic buildings is also underway: a 21st Century Integrated Science Center; a Humanities and Social Sciences edifice; and an innovative facility designed to create synergies among the sciences, social sciences, and Joseph W. Luter III School of Business.

Our faculty enjoys an atmosphere of collegiality and mutual respect that rewards outstanding teaching and fosters active intellectual and creative engagement. CNU faculty members are productive scholars and researchers, supported by summer stipends and year-long internal grants programs. New faculty members recently praised CNU's academic departments for their collegiality and support of pre-tenure faculty members in a recent survey conducted by the Harvard Graduate School of Education. Faculty and administrators actively consult and collaborate as the University works to forge a culture of scholarly inquiry, informed debate, and civic action that enriches students, faculty, and the surrounding community. The result is a supportive and cohesive academic setting in which the University cultivates and carries forward its mission. Attractive salary, health and retirement benefits packages and a well-designed family leave policy further enhance the CNU workplace. For further information on CNU, please visit our web site at <http://www.cnu.edu> and our institutional profile at <http://chronicle.com/employer/Christopher-Newport-University/43/>

To apply, submit a letter of application, vita, graduate transcripts, a statement of teaching philosophy, a sample of scholarly work, a sample syllabus for a course you typically teach, and three letters of reference to:

Director of Equal Opportunity and Faculty Recruitment
Economics Faculty Search
Search #8188
Christopher Newport University
1 University Place
Newport News, VA 23606-2998

Review of applications will begin on December 11, 2009.
Applications received after December 11, 2009, will be considered only if needed.

Christopher Newport University, an EO Employer, is fully committed to Access and Opportunity.